

REPORT
NEW HIRES
AND INDEPENDENT
CONTRACTORS
TO EDD

PROVIDE SUPPORT FOR CALIFORNIA CHILDREN

Why do I have to report?

The federal New Employee Registry (NER) program, part of the welfare reform legislation, required employers to report new hires to EDD. In 1999, the California Legislature expanded the reporting requirement to require businesses and government entities to report the independent contractors they hire beginning January 1, 2001.

What's the benefit?

The information you provide to EDD is cross-matched against a list of parents who are delinquent in their child support obligations. Child support agencies are then able to locate these parents to establish a payment order or enforce an existing order.
